Trustees Request Committees Meet On Oak Bay Funds

Refusal to Pay Entire Sum Requisitioned For Schools in District to Be Discussed

The Greater Victoria Board of School Trustees last night unanimously adopted a motion calling for a joint meeting between the finance committees of both the board and the Oak Bay Municipal Council to discuss the council's refusal to pay the entire sum of $40,808 requisitioned to meet expenses for 1946 school operation in Oak Bay.

A letter from R. F. Blandy, clerk of the Oak Bay Council, stated that the council had no power to pay the amount requisitioned, and also that the board did not have power to apportion the school requirements for 1946 in the manner attempted.

Board Chairman Austin J. Curtis said the letter "indicated that the Oak Bay Council was refusing to pay only $8,000 over the original estimates which amounted to about $32,800" and that this "couldn't be taken as its refusal to pay the total amount."

The motion also asked that a representative of the Department of Education attend the meeting between the two finance committees. A letter was read from the deputy minister of education saying that the department could take no action at this time toward settling the problem.

A letter from R. W. Todd, secretary-treasurer of the Greater Victoria School Board Employees' Association, asked that a 12 per cent increase in wages be given all employees retroactive to last May. The letter also asked for school board employees the same privileges as in all civil departments, a month's pay upon superannuation and salary in lieu of holidays when the holidays were not taken.

The board moved to have the request turned over to the buildings and grounds committee for consideration.

The board was informed of a letter from the registrar of the War-time Labor Relations Board stating the association had been certified bargaining agents for the employees.

Police Search for Youth Wanted in Cabin Murder

VANCOUVER, Nov. 18 (AP).—An police pressed a manhunt tonight for an 18-year-old youth sought in the slaying of Robert F. Tepeorten, a coroner's jury returned a verdict that the 39-year-old handyman died "through gunshot wounds fired by some person or persons unknown" at his North Shore home-stead site last week.

The open verdict came despite testimony of Tepeorten's wife that 18-year-old Donald Russell, a friend of the family and now sought by police, had been with a stick of wood in the Tepeorten cabin near Deep Cove last Thursday.

Young Russell fled after hearing the woman into unconsciousness she said, and shortly after Tepeorten's body was found at a house he had been building nearby. Police later discovered hidden in the partly-constructed house a shotgun with its stock shattered, the weapon police believe was used to kill Tepeorten.

Russell's name was later covered at Barnet, on the south shore of Burrard Inlet across from Deep Cove. Police believe he may have boarded a freight train passing through Barnet en route East, although they are investigating reports the youth has since been seen here.

The jury's inquest verdict caused Coroner Dr. H. Dyer to ask jury foreman Percy A. Lewis: "You really feel that the evidence did not suggest who it was?"

"We were not told who killed him (Tepeorten) and we are not here to decide who fired the shot," Lewis replied.

Harry Russell, father of the sought youth, identified a shotgun police said they had found at the scene. He told the jurors that the gun trigger needed "just a touch to set it off," because he had filed it down so it was a "hair-trigger."

Speaking in his home town at the joint Fall assembly of the Eastern Townships Associated Boards of Trade and the Eastern Townships Settlement Society, Mr. Abbott expressed the view that the best way to reduce taxes was through cuts in expenditure.

Airborne Exercise In North Started

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Nov. 18 (AP).—The United States Army's first airborne tactical problem of "task force frigid" got under way today when 500 men of the Fifth Parachute Infantry hit the silk for a five-day bivouac. They will live in the field on supplies dropped from the air.

California Couple First Meet Snow—Near Victoria!

—Colonist Photo.

First snowfall of the year for Victorians was a special treat for Mr. and Mrs. Nicola Podick, San Francisco, who are honeymooning on the island. Mr. and Mrs. Podick are pictured above frolicking in the snow on the Malahat, an experience they have never had before. Snow on the Malahat was two inches deep in some places and traffic proceeded with caution on hazardous hills. Victorians, unprepared for a cold snap, stoked up heavy fires last night and motorists rushed to their nearest service station to fill up with anti-freeze.

Invasion Craft Sales Reported

VANCOUVER, Nov. 18 (AP).—Ships Sales Division of War Assets announced today that 20 invasion barges, which were offered for tender at Comox, have been sold for approximately $20,000. They also report the sale of 24 small craft at Victoria. Buyers in each case were not identified immediately.

James J. Walker New York, Dies

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP).—James J. Walker, 65, former New York mayor and one of the city's most colorful personalities, died tonight at 6:25 o'clock in Doctors' Hospital. Mr. Walker was taken to the hospital early Sunday suffering from a blood clot on the brain and had been in a coma since he had been in ill health for several months.

When elected mayor in November, 1925, after a career as a lawyer and Democratic state assemblyman and senator, he set out to put New York City on the map. His silk topper and suave manner became a symbol of the "mad twenties"—the age of prohibition and get-rich-quick.

Fish Wharf Tenders Will Close on Dec. 4

Tenders for the construction of a $70,000 fishermen's wharf, with a main float 18 feet wide and 200 feet long, to be located at the foot of Erie Street, have been called by the Dominion Department of Public Works. It was learned yesterday. It is expected the work will last six months.

Detailed blueprint plans of the project, and other matters pertaining to the dredging, float assembly, wharf and roadway, were received in Victoria over the week-end. Tenders close December 4.

When completed, the fishboat harborage site will be among the most elaborate of its kind on the Coast. Exact site of the new wharf will be in a bay adjacent to Erie Street between Dallas Road and St. Lawrence Street on the approach to the Inner Harbor.

In addition to the main float, the project will include a landing float 18 by 280 feet, three landing floats 14 feet wide and 200 feet long, and two landing floats 18 feet wide and 200 feet long.

According to authorities who have seen the plans, completion of the project will enable at least 60 large fish packers to moor at the floats at one time.

An area 500 feet by approximately 125 feet in width will have to be dredged to an average depth of nearly eight feet. A roadway will lead to the wharf from Erie Street.

Remarkable on the plans, Fred Hawes, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce and harbor development committee, said yesterday: "This is certainly good news. It will be welcomed by the many fishermen who have operated, and plan to operate, out of this port."

George Greenwell, assistant manager at Kyquoot Trollers Co-operative Association, agreed with Mr. Hawes that the planned wharf would "mean a great deal" to Victoria. He figured the project would accommodate all the fishing vessels now operating out of this harbor.

Egg Shortage Here Forecast

VANCOUVER, Nov. 18 (AP).—A serious egg shortage this winter, with possible curtailment of shipments to Britain, was forecast today by a spokesman for the Western Canada Produce Association who said feed dealers now were using reserve holdings of chicken feed and no replacements were coming forward.

He said dealers had recently arranged with Lower Mainland producers to reduce the protein content of poultry feed by five and a half per cent to maintain supply pending a statement of policy from Ottawa in respect to the allocation of vegetable protein across Canada.

Some producers predicted a 30 per cent output drop in eggs "if nothing is done to make more meat scraps and fish meal food available."

Miners' Walkout Begins As Court Orders Lewis To Withdraw Strike Call

East Indies Freed From Dutch Rule

Violence Follows Signing of Pact

BATAVIA, Java, Nov. 18 (AP).—Dutch and Indonesian police worked side by side tonight in a probe of violence which broke out at nearby Buitenzorg Sunday after the signing in Batavia of a proposed agreement establishing a "United States of Indonesia" and redefining the entire Dutch Empire system.

The agreement, if approved by the Dutch and Indonesian Parliaments, will end 200 years of colonial rule over the Dutch East Indies, with their fabulous treasure of oil, rubber and tin.

A Hague dispatch said "fierce opposition" was expected in the Dutch Parliament to the measure, but that it was almost-certain to be approved. Parliament debate may get under way late next week.

An Indonesian spokesman accused "Dutch Army elements who oppose a peaceful political solution in Indonesia" of touching off the outbreak in Buitenzorg, a Summer resort 35 miles south of Batavia. He said six Indonesians, including the Republican deputy mayor of Buitenzorg, were killed, seven wounded and 110 arrested.

A Dutch Army spokesman, on the other hand, described the action as "retaliatory" and said it was taken only after a series of provocations. He added that "a few Indonesians were killed and wounded."

The text of the heretofore secret agreement, made public today, would set up a new Pacific nation of 80,000,000 persons, composed of all former Dutch East Indies colonies, to be known as the United States of Indonesia.

Charges Gangs Obstruct Vote

LONDON, Nov. 18 (AP).—Britain charged tonight that "gangs of thugs" acting without Government interference had obstructed free campaigning for Romania's general election tomorrow.

The Foreign Office made public a note declaring Britain is "led to doubt" a Romanian claim that the campaign developed without hindrance.

The note also rejected a Romanian communication saying Britain's previous statements regarding the campaign constituted an interference in Romania's domestic affairs.

U.S. Tribunal Demands Leader Abstain From Issuing Command—Refusal May Mean Jail

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP).—A sweeping order placing John L. Lewis in danger of jail unless he cancels his signal for a strike of 400,000 soft coal miners was issued by a Federal court today as thousands of miners began the walkout.

The restraining order, issued by Judge T. Alan Goldsborough at the request of the Justice Department, directed Mr. Lewis to call off his notice of contract termination.

Furthermore, it ordered him to give no slightest sign to his miners—38,000 of whom already were out—that the pact may be terminated now or later.

This temporary restraining order stays in force until 3 p.m. November 27. At 10 a.m. that day the court will hear what he and the Government have to say about the crucial dispute.

Even as this drastic legal step was taken, the Government, taking no chances that a full-scale unauthorized walkout might occur at the original Wednesday midnight deadline, ordered a 25 per cent cut in passenger service of coal-burning railroads beginning next Sunday midnight.

The Office of Defence Transportation explained that the railroads have only an average 30-day coal supply on hand, and some have as little as ten days.

It appeared this ruling, like the one freezing all bituminous coal supplies Saturday, would remain in effect until the threat of a strike is lifted definitely.

The prospective contract termination Wednesday midnight already had started walkouts among the 400,000 soft coal miners, who traditionally do not work without a contract. At least 32,000 were idle today in seven states, closing dozens of mines and crippling many others. This situation prevailed even in the face of the notices and handbills in which the Government appealed to the miners over Mr. Lewis' lead to stay on the job.

The restraining order followed. Two deputy United States marshals served it on Mr. Lewis personally at headquarters of the United Mine Workers.

An official there told reporters that Mr. Lewis had no statement today. Failure to comply with it, however, would subject Mr. Lewis and his associates to prosecution for contempt of court and possible fines and jail sentences.

The order was issued on the basis of affidavits from eight Government officials, including the Secretaries of War and the Navy, which showed that termination of the contract would cause a "work stoppage."

Suggests Premier Study Condition of Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Nov. 18 (AP).—Senator G. G. McGeer, former Vancouver mayor standing again for that post in the forthcoming election next month, said in a campaign speech tonight that Premier John Hart should investigate Vancouver's condition before proceeding to Ottawa Saturday to seek a better financial deal for the Province.

Senator McGeer told a public meeting he had sent a letter to Premier Hart urging that he "examine the deplorable conditions of Vancouver streets and lanes" and telling him that "more than 24 per cent of the homes in Vancouver are without sewerage accommodation."

The letter had said further that Vancouver's school system was inadequate, playground accommodation pitifully deficient and hospital and police accommodation outdated.

Newest Archaeological Discovery Since "King Tut"

DISCOVERY of the tomb of the ancient great-tusked god Alapac, believed to be 1,000 years old, and containing one of the archaeological "finds" of recent times, was announced at Columbia University. The tomb, bearing remarkably well-preserved specimens of earliest

American art, as well as the remains of a high priest thought to be the last of the dynasty of mortal impersonators of the god, was discovered by Dr. William Duncan Strong, Loubat professor of archaeology and head of a Columbia University expedition which recently returned from six months of excavations in the Viru Valley of Peru. The grave discovered was that of an actual man who combined the roles of priest, warrior and also personified the god. Shown here are contents of the tomb of the god Alapac when the cover was removed, revealing hitherto unknown treasures of Moche civilization.

Shown (above) is a close-up of the god itself, and at right Dr. William Duncan Strong examines a baton used by god Alapac in his role as warrior. The wooden baton, about six feet in length, is surmounted by a carved figure of the tusked god. The figure atop the staff showed the god as a manlike creature with a head of a jaguar and three serpents on the back. The god is shown making a furrow, and at his side stands a boy casting turquoise, representing corn, into a furrow.

Hitler Planned Invasion of Britain But Force Didn't Sail, Attlee Reveals

LONDON, Nov. 18 (Reuters).—One of the most persistent rumors of the World War—that German forces attempted an invasion of Britain in August or September, 1940—was answered by Prime Minister Attlee today with the statement: "There is no evidence that German forces ever left harbor as a fleet to invade this country."

In a written Parliamentary reply, Mr. Attlee told the House of Commons that Hitler in July 1940, ordered his staff chiefs to complete preparations by mid-August for a September 15 invasion, but on August 16 orders were issued that a decision on "Operation Sea Lion"—the proposed invasion—had been delayed.

Subsequently, said Mr. Attlee, the invasion plan was ordered for postponement until the spring. In July 1941, Hitler again postponed the invasion until 1942 and "the project does not seem to have been seriously considered again."

Mr. Attlee's detailed statement on invasion plans, in reply to a question on the circumstances which "led up to all military units in the United Kingdom receiving a warning that invasion was pending on the evening of a date in September, 1940," acknowledged that the code word "Cromwell" signifying "invasion imminent" was issued September 7 by General Headquarters of the Home Forces.

The Prime Minister said the code word was flashed to Eastern and Southern Commands after the chiefs of staff became convinced that the intensification of German air attacks made the possibility of invasion appear imminent.

HOME GUARD CALLED OUT

"In some parts of the country certain home guard commanders, acting on their own initiative, called out the Home Guard by the ringing of church bells," said the 1,500-word statement, "prepared from information in captured German documents and from statements made by German prisoners of war."

"This in turn gave rise to rumors that enemy paratroopers were landing."

Mr. Attlee earlier noted that "it was widely believed in this country that a German invasion attempt was actually launched in 1940"—a belief he said was based partly on the fact that about 38 bodies were washed up on the South coast of England in August and September, and partly on knowledge of the "invasion-imminent" signal.

Mr. Attlee said: "The facts are that the Germans in August, 1940, were embarking forces from harbors along the French coast, but there is no evidence that they ever left harbor as a fleet to invade this country."

INVASION PORTS ATTACKED BY AIR

"Bombing raids on those harbors were carried out by Bomber Command and some barges which put to sea, probably to escape the raids, were sunk either by bombing or by encountering bad weather."

In his references to German invasion plans, Mr. Attlee said Hitler appeared "encouraged" to believe in July 1940 that Britain would accept a compromise peace, but that the German leader decided to push invasion planning "both as a threat to supplement the peace offer, and as a practical alternative to be adopted if that offer should fail."

The statement then quoted a Hitler-directive issued July 16, 1940, as saying: "Since England, in spite of her military hopeless situation, shows no signs of coming to terms, I have decided to prepare a landing operation against England, and, if necessary, to carry it out... the preparations for the entire operation must be completed by mid-August."

The statement said both Hitler and his military leaders were "apprehensive" of the proposed operation, which hinged on complete air supremacy by Germany.

INDIA WOULD PREFER TO BE IN EMPIRE

PORT WILLIAM, Nov. 18 (CP).—India would prefer to remain within the British Commonwealth as a self-governing nation with rights equal to those of the other Dominions, S. Kodanda Rao said in an interview here today.

In Port William to address the Canadian Club, Mr. Rao acted as an advisor in the India delegation to the International Labor Organization's migration committee meeting at Montreal last August.

Wage Drive For 1947 Is C.I.O. Plan

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Nov. 18 (CP).—Philip Murray today pointed the Congress of Industrial Organizations toward a higher wage drive in 1947.

He opened the C.I.O.'s eighth convention with a statement that record corporation profits in 1946 were a greater threat to the United States than any threats of Communism. In a fiery address to 500 delegates, the C.I.O. president made these points:

1. The most important business of the convention was to plan for wage increases.
2. The rate of business profits after taxes for 1946 was $15,000,000,000, three times 1939 profits.
3. That while the Communist Party threatened "our Government, our institutions," business profits were a "far greater threat than anything that has ever confronted the American people."
4. The Republican Party was "misleading" if it thought its victory in the November 5 election gave it the right to "crucify" labor.

Mr. Murray said: "The boom is on and if there is a continuation of this staggering profit, the bust is inevitable." He said that although his steel workers carried about $56.32 a week—result of the 18¢ cents-an-hour pay increase they won in March, 1946—the purchasing power of a steel worker's pay cheque had fallen to $43.20 a week.

Rising prices, since March, had wiped out his gains.

Experts Doubt Europe to Get "Flood" of Wheat

WINNIPEG, Nov. 18 (CP).—The Winnipeg Free Press in a news page story today said grain men were "skeptical" of a report from London that a "great flood" of grain from exporting countries could be expected in Europe shortly.

(A Reuters dispatch written by Financial Editor Sidney Campbell on Sunday predicted a spectacular collapse of the "world grain holdup," and said grain would come forward "all the faster for having been dammed back so long.")

The grain dealers, the Free Press said, pointed out that the "colossal" surpluses said to exist in exporting nations were not in accordance with statistics issued by countries expected to make these "huge" shipments.

OTTAWA, Nov. 18 (CP).—Movements of wheat now under way are expected to bring quick relief in the shortage of grain in Montreal elevators for overseas shipment, officials sources said today.

The shortage has been so great that ships wishing to load wheat have been kept waiting in Montreal Harbor for as long as five weeks. Present indications are that the nine ships now waiting will get their cargoes before the danger of the river freeze is pressing.

AIRMAN DEAD

TORONTO, Nov. 18 (CP).—A well-known Canadian aviator who set a world's record by spinning a plane 92 times and was said to be the only man to have seen every Canadian town from the east coast to the Rockies from the air, C. R. (Pat) Patterson, general manager of the National Aeronautical Association of Canada, died today. He was 45.

U.S. Indians Ask United Nations' Aid

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 18 (CP).—The Minnesota Chippewa-Indians have laid aside their pipe of peace and decided to seek United Nations' aid in the restoration of their "sovereign rights" to hunt, fish and trap as of old.

The action was taken yesterday by tribal leaders as they crowded around a wood-burning stove at the Fond du Lac Reservation council chamber for their annual pow-wow on tribal problems.

Chieftains pointed out that the Chippewas held sufficient sovereignty to claim protection of United Nations as an "oppressed nation," citing that the United States had always dealt with them by treaty. Thus, they said, they interpreted as an admission that the tribe held national status.

Canadian Food For Alaskans

OTTAWA, Nov. 18 (CP).—Release of Canadian flour to combat a shortage in Alaska has been authorized by the Department of Trade and Commerce, it was learned tonight.

A Government official said the permit had been issued today, permitting the shipment of a quantity of flour north by way of Edmonton. The amount released was not available here tonight, but it was understood to be enough to meet the immediate need in Fairbanks, where the supply on hand was reported sufficient for only three days.

At the same time, it was understood negotiations are under way between Ottawa and Washington with a view to the dispatch of Canadian meat to Alaska to meet a scarcity in that commodity.

Shipment of Canadian meat to the northern territory, it was stated here, has been complicated by two factors:

1. The necessity for coupons.
2. The fact there has been "some difficulty" with the United States over Canada sending meat into that country while the U.S. is shipping its own meat overseas, Alaska in this instance being regarded as part of the continental United States.

Actor Donald Meek Dead in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 18 (AP).—Donald Meek, 66, film character actor, died here today.

Born in Glasgow, Scotland, Mr. Meek joined an aerial circus act at the age of nine, toured Australia with a British company in "Little Lord Fauntleroy" and spent 22 years in stock companies. He served during the Great War with the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, a Winnipeg regiment. Afterward he played in several musical comedies on Broadway. His first film part was in "Oh Promise Me" in 1933.

Generals' Plea Is Not Guilty Of Execution of 335 Italians

ROME, Nov. 18 (AP).—The prosecution today quoted Col. Gen. Eberhard von Mackensen as declaring he did the Italian people "a service" by selecting from persons already condemned to death the 335 Italians slaughtered at Rome's ardeatine cave in reprisal for the killing of 33 German S.S. troops.

But S.S. Lt.-Col. Herbert Kappler, who carried out the executions, testified for the prosecution that only 13 "at the most" of the hostages put to death had been condemned previously to capital punishment. The prosecution, in its opening statement, said only four had been condemned to death.

Kappler said the others included 37 Jews, Italians who had been sentenced to long prison terms or those who faced trial for crimes punishable only by imprisonment.

The witness, regarded by the Roman population as one of the most ruthless of the S.S. officers in Rome, described coolly how the hostages were marched into the cave five at a time and shot in the back of the head with machine-guns. He said he dispatched five himself.

Kappler said the final order for the executions came from the headquarters of Field Marshal Albert Kesselring, German supreme commander in Italy, and not from Von Mackensen's headquarters.

Allied authorities have pledged that Kappler also will be brought to trial for atrocities in Rome.

Lunan to Appeal Five-Year Term

Canadian courts delivered an eighth sentence today in the country's nine-month-old espionage probe. County Judge A. Gordon McDougall found David Gordon Lunan guilty on a charge of conspiring to communicate confidential information to Russia and sentenced him to Kingston Penitentiary for five years. Lunan is a 31-year-old native of Scotland and former Canadian Information Services official.

Later, his defence counsel, J. L. Cohen of Toronto, issued notice of appeal to the Ontario Supreme Court. Lunan's appeal maintains he was deprived of an opportunity fully to answer the charge because Judge McDougall refused a request for adjournment and because the Crown did not make available the testimony of "alleged co-conspirators."

Season's First Swirling Snow Melts Here But Whitens Hills

Old Man Winter paid his first official visit of the year to Victoria yesterday after leaving the Malahat and Upper Island centres under a light blanket of snow the previous night.

Flurries of snow drifted over Victoria most of yesterday morning, coming to a stop in the afternoon. The fall was just enough to whiten tops of long-parked automobiles, and also small enough for former prairie residents to cast such remarks as: "This? Snow? Say, you don't know what snow is."

Poor visibility at sea started fog horns blowing around the lower end of the Island about noon. An icy wind from the north followed when the flakes stopped falling. What little snow had settled on buildings, trees and fields, soon disappeared, although the Sooke hills remained cloaked in white.

Two inches of snow lay on the ground at some high points of Saanich, Dr. J. A. Pearce, director at the Astronomical Observatory, reported.

The swirling snow was unwelcome to about 100 students yesterday morning. As they waited at a downtown intersection for a Mount Trimble bus, fellow students, driving cars, passed the line-up, and were met with jeers and envious remarks.

UGANDA LEAVES

Under grey November skies, the cruiser H.M.C.S. Uganda pushed her way out of Esquimalt naval base Sunday on the first lap of a journey that will take her to waters off Mexico. While there, the ship of war will be joined by the destroyer H.M.C.R. Crescent, which left Victoria early this month, and the aircraft carrier Warrior.

Several newspapermen left on board the Uganda, and with the ship is Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons of the B.C. Police.

All three warships will return to Esquimalt December 16. The visit to Mexico is in connection with the inauguration of that country's new president.

TO DISCUSS PLAN

To discuss future plans and objectives in detail, directors of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce will meet this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the Chamber boardroom. It was announced yesterday by Capt. Norman Foster, secretary.

FOUR SHIPS DUE

A considerable number of Royal Mail Line vessels are scheduled to dock at Victoria early in 1947, each bringing a general cargo from United Kingdom ports. It was announced yesterday by George Paulin, agent for the line here.

Pacific Shipper is due to leave London, England, on or about December 19 with a general cargo. The ship Samouelle will leave the U.K. next Saturday, and St. Samuyl will leave London, November 26. Each vessel will dock at Victoria, and then proceed to Mainland ports.

Toward the middle of next month the Royal Mail Line S.S. Defford will dock at Ogden Point pier with cargo and passengers from the United Kingdom. She left England October 30.

Delay in Erecting Main Transmission Lines Will End With Shipping of 150 Steel Towers

Breaking a strike tie-up that has set back by many weeks the erection of main transmission lines from the British Columbia Power Commission's Campbell River project, 150 steel towers will be shipped from Windsor this week, according to advice received by S. R. Weston, commission chairman, yesterday.

The huge towers will be complete and ready for assembly and erection on delivery on the Island. They will represent the first major shipment of more than 600 pylons needed to carry the high-voltage lines from the Campbell River powerhouse to Nanaimo and Alberni.

Transmission line crews will be built up immediately. At present there is work to keep only 20 men employed, due to slowness of delivery of materials as a result of steel strikes in the East.

Meanwhile, construction crews on the main projects at Campbell River itself have been increased by 50 per cent, with between 300 and 350 men working on the head dam, powerhouse and pipeline, and another 100 or more on clearing the head pond area.

Concrete is being poured at the rate of 10,000 sacks of cement a week, and considerably greater quantities could be handled if increased cement supplies were available.

Good progress is being made on construction of the powerhouse, where substructure for both units has been built up to the base of the turbine settings.

Estevan Back For Overhaul

C.G.S. Estevan, lighthouse tender of the Department of Transport, has returned to Victoria for her annual overhaul. It was reported yesterday by W. L. Stamford, department agent here.

The vessel was to have undergone the overhaul a considerable time ago, but an urgent job at the mouth of the Fraser River forced the postponement. She repaired and replaced a number of buoys and other navigational aids which had been damaged by passing log booms.

Estevan will go to the ways at Yarrowe Ltd. and later will be dry-docked for work below the waterline.

Third of Soldiers Due Next Week

More than a third of all Canadian soldiers overseas will arrive back in Canada next week, it was reported yesterday by officials of Canadian National Railways.

The C.N.R. will transport them across the country in five special trains. Returning home on the Samaria, the servicemen are expected to reach Halifax today.

Sir James Douglas Enters Canada Hall of Fame

"Sir James Douglas, founder of Victoria and 'father of British Columbia,' has had his name officially inscribed in Canada's hall of fame.

The Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada has formally decreed British Columbia's first governor to be "a figure of national importance," and to commemorate his work has prepared a bronze plaque which will be dedicated and unveiled at a ceremony in the Legislative Buildings at 8 o'clock tonight.

The inscription reads: "Sir James Douglas, K.C.B., 'The Father of British Columbia,' fur trader and statesman. In his early life he was associated first with the North West Company and later with the Hudson's Bay Company. He founded Fort Victoria in 1843. By his firm and wise rule as Governor of Vancouver Island, 1851-1864, and Governor of British Columbia, 1864-1884, he laid the foundation of this Province."

Now known as Douglas Day to those interested in the early history of the Province, November 19 is the anniversary of the swearing in of Sir James Douglas as Governor of British Columbia at Fort Langley in 1858. Concurrently with the ceremony here, there will be celebrations of the event at Langley, where plaques provided by the Provincial Government will be unveiled.

Victoria's handsome bronze tablet has been erected at the main entrance to the Legislative Chamber. The unveiling tonight will be performed by the mayor.

SIR JAMES DOUGLAS

formed by Mrs. Fitzherbert Bullen, granddaughter of the city's founder, and the plaque will be received on behalf of the Government by Hon. Dr. O. M. Weir, Minister of Education.

The ceremony will be a public one, and members of the Victoria section of the British Columbia Historical Association, headed by Major H. Cuthbert Holmes, president, will take part in it.

To commemorate the occasion, a meeting of the association's Victoria section will be held in the Provincial Library at 8:30 p.m., at which the main address on the life and work of Sir James Douglas will be given by Dr. W. N. Sage, head of the department of history at the University of British Columbia.

People of Victoria Area Should Have Facts Before Amalgamation Vote, Committee Says

Citizens of Greater-Victoria should be in possession of the full facts before being asked to express their wishes in the matter of amalgamation, according to a resolution passed at a meeting of the Greater Victoria Inter-municipal Committee held yesterday.

Present at the meeting were Ald. Gadsden, chairman, and Ald. M. Diggon, both of Victoria; Reeve A. G. Lambbrick and Councillor J. Casey, Saanich, and Councillor A. C. Wurtele, Esquimalt. No representative was present from Oak Bay.

Main obstacle to progress in the matter of amalgamation was said by Ald. Gadsden to be the "undefined situation in Saanich." A division between the urban and rural sections of that municipality must be decided before it is possible to present a report, or to hold a referendum, the chairman stated.

A report submitted to the committee jointly by A. J. Patton, city solicitor, G. M. Irwin, city engineer, and Dr. A. Macdonald, city comptroller, stated that as far as the city was concerned all statistical data pertaining to taxation, debt, finance, public works, etc., is now at hand, and requires only tabulation.

"However, at present that information does not further the matter so long as Saanich is not ready to do likewise," the report continued.

Commenting on the present situation, Ald. Gadsden stated the committee was at a disadvantage in being unable to "investigate the matter deeply, as affecting each of the four municipalities involved, until we know the facts and are able to study the financial, physical and social advantages, or disadvantages, of each unit in the scheme."

"Until such a report and study have been made, I feel there are no grounds on which the people can make an intelligent decision by way of referendum," he declared.

Stating he had been promised that the Goldenberg report on provincial-municipal relations would contain information valuable to the inquiry, Ald. Gadsden advised the filing of the report should be awaited.

Chairman's suggestion that the survey should be made by an expert who could not be accused of local sympathy toward any one of the four self-governing units in the area, and that the expense of such survey be borne proportionately by the municipalities concerned, was approved.

Local Objective For Bible Work Is Set at $2,000

Most urgent task facing the Christian church is that of providing the people of the world with the Bible, declared Rev. J. A. Raymond Tingley, Vancouver, district secretary of the British and Foreign Bible Society for British Columbia, speaking on Sunday morning at St. Andrew's United Church.

Picturing the desperate plight of millions in Europe, Mr. Tingley stated that the British and Foreign Bible Society is raising an initial fund of $1,000,000 to provide the people of Europe with the Scriptures.

Sunday was observed by the churches of Victoria as Bible Society Sunday and offerings were received to aid the Bible Society in its world task of translating and distributing the Bible to the world. Rev. Tingley paid high tribute to the service rendered in Victoria and throughout Vancouver Island by Frank Masters, the colporteur of the society.

Work of the society in Victoria is under the direction of Rev. W. L. MacKay, president; Thomas Baxter, secretary, and Robert Niven, treasurer. Objective of $2,000 has been set for the city.

Veterans' Homes

When, as part of civilian re-establishment policy, this nation set out to secure homes for battle veterans and to put them into those homes at a reasonable and workable figure, the recognition of the debt owed to the men who did the fighting was clear in the public mind. The public approved not only of this, but also of every other policy which would afford the fighting man a square deal upon his return to Canada after from one to six years of service overseas. We do not take the position that what has happened since to weaken those policies and to deny their full operation in some part is the sole fault of the Administration at Ottawa. We do think, however, that the Dominion cannot afford to overlook any and every means of seeing that substantial justice is done to the veterans concerned.

Complaints have been filed before as to the finished result on the Braefoot project. We recall one veteran being asked to pay in excess of $7,000 for a new home there. In forty minutes he returned the answer that he could not afford it. Not many veterans could. Later, there was open discontent as to the character of some of the materials and the net result of construction in some of the houses erected on the property. Now this has culminated in a request for an official inquiry into the whole scheme, to see if both prices and values are what the veterans were told they would be.

It is not an apt answer to such protests, made in this instance through the veterans themselves and their representatives on veterans' organizations, to say that new houses often develop defects, and that these will one day be put right. The question in the public's mind, all matters considered, is are the veterans getting a square deal? There is some contention and perhaps also some confusion as to that. An inquiry would be in the interest of the Dominion in clearing up all that has gone before. We feel certain that the nation has the interest of the veteran at heart as much now as it had two years ago. When a result is questioned, and this one is being questioned, the matter should be studied calmly and on the scene.

S.P.C.A.

There will be satisfaction that whatever was the difference between provincial and local executives of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, the matter now has been settled and the organization can resume its respected place in this and other communities without divided councils. The most unreflexive individual knows that the aims of this world-wide organization are indispensable.

Mr. Justice Smith, who characterized the disagreement as one of means rather than ends, advised the conciliation, and that has now been effected through the action of the provincial executive of the organization. On all counts, the issue should be allowed to rest there. The public, and very generally, appreciates the work done by the S.P.C.A.; and is ready to support its resumption in full working order. It will understand, too, the view quoted by Hon. Sidney Smith, who read from a judgment of Lord Justice Swinfen-Eady in the Wedgwood case of 1915, as follows:

"A gift for the benefit and protection of animals tends to promote and encourage kindness toward them, to discourage cruelty, and to ameliorate the condition of the brute creation, and thus to stimulate humane and generous sentiments in man towards the lower animals, and by these means promote feeling of humanity and morality generally, repress brutality, and thus elevate the human race."

There is the continuing mission of the S.P.C.A., its 700 members in Victoria may rest assured that they have lost nothing in the eyes of the public; that their sincerity is unquestioned; and that the same warm support which the society has for long enjoyed in this community will be at its service today. Kindness, whether to human beings or to animals, can never be dispensed with in a civilized world.

Food in Britain

The correspondence columns of this newspaper have lately carried a number of letters on the subject of food in Great Britain, in so far as it relates to the sending of parcels from this country. If some letters offer evidence that no scarcities exist in certain areas of the United Kingdom, this does not invalidate the general trend of most communications. Food distribution is never perfect, even in rationed countries. Some districts often appear to enjoy what others lack. The same situation exists in our own country. Certain commodities scarce in this province seem much more easily obtainable in some Eastern provinces.

This fact is well known, and it should be taken into account when the pros and cons of overseas food parcels are discussed. As to the general food situation in Great Britain, no one has ever suggested that the people there are starving. What seems clear, however, is that on the average the restricted and monotonous British diet has a deleterious effect on its consumers, and that Old Country people are in a much less favorable position respecting food than are Canadians. It is because realization of this circumstance is widespread that many individuals throughout the Commonwealth have made a habit of sending gift packages to relatives and friends in the United Kingdom.

Perhaps the strangest aspect of this effort is that it should have aroused any objection. No person is compelled to send a food parcel to anyone else. There has been no suggestion that any attempt at persuasion should be made. The most that has happened is that by letters to the press some people have sought to draw attention to the difficulties being experienced by Britons as a whole. In any case, the majority of food parcels go to the kin and kind of the senders, and they are unsolicited. These parcels are not always primarily for the purpose of giving sustenance; they are often a gesture designed to brighten the lives of a people whose war sacrifices has not yet ended.

There is overwhelming evidence that receipt by hard-pressed Britons of these gifts from abroad does accomplish this aim; the gratitude of the recipients is too heart-warming and sincere to be doubted. By all means let those able to do so continue to forward these gifts of food and other commodities. It is a voluntary act prompted by Canadian gratitude which does the senders credit. There is small warrant for objection. No one who does not favor the practice need indulge in it.

Mr. King Hesitates

When a month or two ago Mr. Mackenzie King relinquished the External Affairs portfolio to Mr. St. Laurent he announced that the appointment would be temporary only, preparatory to a Cabinet reshuffle this year of some magnitude. According to latest reports the forthcoming reshuffle has dwindled to a projected switch among present Cabinet Members of the existing portfolios. There will be no departures to the Senate or elsewhere, and no introduction of new Ministers.

The reason, of course, is quite clear. The loss of three by-elections in a row has reduced the Liberal majority in the House of Commons to not much more than a paper advantage. Discontinuance of the "pairing" system, whereby Liberal Members could absent themselves from the House by agreement with an opposite number, will make the Governmental majority even more precarious. The Prime Minister does not therefore feel disposed to risk a further reduction in strength which promotions to the Senate would invite, and which the present temper of the voters would in all probability make likely.

What is not quite so understandable is Mr. King's vacillation about his own position. The Prime Minister is seldom specific as to his intentions; he apparently believes in leaving loopholes. It is now more than year since he announced he would not contest another general election, the implication being he would retire sometime before that. Ten days ago he went out of his way to point out that the next election is three years off, and that he might consider whether he should reconsider his decision. Were Mr. King not an experienced politician it might be thought he was growing coy; that he had changed his mind and would like to be invited to continue his leadership.

The Prime Minister may be overlooking something. It is not at all certain his Administration will be able to last three more years. It could be defeated on the floor of the House long before 1949 comes around, as some Liberal members have reason to fear. It is among Liberal ranks that Mr. King's hesitations will cause most discomfiture, including those of the heir-apparents to the Liberal Party leadership.

Seen in Passing

The eighty-eighth birthday of the British Columbia Police will be another anniversary in the record of many since 1858, in Crown Colony days. Today with a "beat" of 360,000 square miles, the force is giving first rate service throughout the Province. With a roster of 445 officers and men under able leadership, the force is to be congratulated on the fine reputation it has sustained since the earliest days of its inception.

Frozen Funds

Frank M. Kelley

There are a great many people in Canada and the United States, and quite a number resident on Vancouver Island as well, who in pre-war days anyway depended, wholly or in part, upon funds coming regularly to hand from Old Country banks, where, as a result of shrewd investments or legacies, money was

During the war years those funds were mostly "frozen." This occasioned some hardship on some who were not fit enough physically to engage in most of the rugged war jobs offering, like that of the shipyard, for instance. One in this category, with apparently considerable money in a British bank, recently told this writer he had had a hard time "getting by" in the latter war days and considered the situation was going to be bad for a considerable spell.

Maybe the situation is not so bad as that person thought. A short time ago it was announced in some Canadian newspapers that an individual domiciled in England, who apparently knew the status of most "frozen" money in his home land, offered to furnish residents of Canada with such information as would enable them to secure full benefits following a slight loosening up of British exchange control restrictions on the movement of money from Old Country banks to owners in the Dominion and other lands.

Undoubtedly it was a bona fide offer or the newspapers would not have given such a story the prominence they did. Probably by this time the maker of the offer may have had enough queries for information to keep him busy answering them for a while at least.

LIGHT ON SITUATION

In the meantime British Treasury officials connected with the office of Britain's High Commissioner to Canada have shed some light on a situation which, while it may continue to work hardship, can only be appreciated when it is understood that at the end of 1945, external liabilities of Britain amounted to £5,555,000,000, against which the net gold and United States dollar reserves added up to just £452,000,000. It is only out of these reserves that funds can be released to holders of Old Country securities abroad.

In any event, residents of Canada who have cash or its equivalent in British banks and seek transfers must apply, the High Commissioner's office states, to the Bank of England through their bank in Britain, which all have the regular application forms for permission to transfer sterling. Upon receipt of this application the commercial bank forwards it to the Bank of England.

Accompanying such application, the Treasury officials point out the desirability of writing a letter setting out the details for which the requested funds are needed, as well as the precise use to which the money is to be put. The whole matter is then judged on merit and a decision promptly made.

The application also involves a means test; and while this might appear a bit far-fetched when the money sought really belongs to the applicant, it must be understood that Britain's financial existence depends to a very considerable extent on Canadian and American bank balances overseas. Each application is carefully scrutinized, and it is pointed out the Bank of England would be most likely to grant the request of a person with small Canadian resources than one who might be earning a substantial income every year. Likewise an applicant liable to become a debtor through any chain of circumstances would have a better chance of having his request favorably considered than if he wanted the money to build a home or expand a business.

Main consideration apparently in determining whether a request for certain funds should be granted or not has to do with hardship. In such cases, would the applicant experience undue hardship if turned down.

SAMPLES OF REQUEST

The Commissioner's office lists some samples of requests which might be considered favorably, as similar cases have been. The Bank of England is evidently kindly disposed towards ex-servicemen's requests, and has actually given Canadian funds to fund transfers to Canada for the purpose of starting up in business.

All funds in British banks "frozen" in 1940, as well as legacies left since, are under the control of the Bank of England. In connection with legacies, beneficiaries in Canada are allowed to transfer up to one thousand pounds, while genuine settlers coming to Canada are permitted to take five thousand pounds over a period of four years. All this means there is a slackening of control, and that control will be further relaxed as the position of Britain improves.

Ceylon Is on Threshold of Self-Government

By HARLEY V. USILL

LONDON. — "Some people still speak of British Imperialism as a baneful factor to be combated. The fact is—it is no more. It departed this life more than a generation ago."

In these words, General Smuts, in a recent broadcast, gave the lie direct to those who still assert that the British Commonwealth and Empire is an aggressive imperialist organization, and, thereby, a potential menace to world peace. It is true that in the early stages of empire building, in common with other virile colonizing nations, Great Britain went through a period of expansionism, but with the rise of the conception of a Commonwealth of free people there has come into being a new spirit of liberation—a new outlook which inspires a whole vast group of mankind.

Instead of acquiring new territories, Great Britain is in the active process of giving self-government to each component part of the Empire as and when the appropriate time arrives.

Unlike the Dominions, however, where the builders were drawn in the main from a common British stock and culture, thus making a transition towards self-government both natural and comparatively easy, complications arise when the same principles of self-government are applied to the Colonies. It is obvious, for instance, that the same methods of approach cannot be applied with equal effect to areas which differ so widely in culture and historical background as the Mediterranean countries of Malta and Cyprus, the Far Eastern territories of Ceylon, Burma and Malaya, the islands of the Caribbean in East and West Africa. In some cases, such as Ceylon, Malta and Jamaica, to take a few examples, progress can be comparatively rapid; in others, and particularly Africa, much work remains to be done before the peoples concerned can assume not only the responsibility for governing themselves, but the equally important task of taking a place among the nations of the world which will command respect.

The Crown Colony of Ceylon presents an immediate example of Britain's honesty of purpose in regard to her Colonial Empire. Ceded to Britain by the Treaty of Amiens in 1802, the inhabitants were given a guarantee of religious toleration, of personal freedom and the maintenance of existing customs, and with the exception of a few minor disturbances in the early days, Ceylon has enjoyed over a century of peaceful progress.

By the introduction of new crops, particularly tea and rubber, scientific methods of irrigation, construction of roads and bridges and the development of the harbors of Colombo and Trincomalee by British engineers, a sound background for prosperity has been ensured.

The development of agriculture, social services and education have had a marked effect on the lives of the people. It should be remembered, for example, that the population of Ceylon in 1825 was only 751,210, whereas in 1940 it had risen to 2,561,000. To a large extent, however, the composition of this population has effected Ceylon's rate of progress towards self-government.

By far the largest proportion are the Sinhalese, numbering 2,300,000, a race that came from Southern India as far back as 300 B.C. The next largest group is the Tamils, numbering roughly 1,400,000. Owing to the unwillingness of the Sinhalese to work on the plantations, it is from the Tamils that the bulk of the labor for the estates is drawn. The traders of Ceylon are the Moorish population of about 325,000. Then there are the so-called Burghers, descendants of the old Portuguese and Dutch inhabitants, some 15,000 Malays and less than 10,000 Europeans.

Under British administration these races, varying in culture and religion, have enjoyed complete freedom to live their own lives, but in considering each step towards self-government the vexed question of minorities has had to be constantly borne in mind. It has been a long period of trial and error to the time when Ceylon is now on the eve of virtual dominion status. The new constitution, which was accepted almost unanimously by the Ceylon State Council in November last year, is now the subject of discussion in Ceylon. Modelled on the British, it includes universal adult suffrage. During the experimental period the governor will possess reserved powers in respect of defence, external affairs and safeguards for minorities.

His Majesty's Government has expressed the hope that the new constitution will be accepted by the people of Ceylon with a determination so to work it that in a comparatively short time they may prove themselves fit to assume full dominion status. Thus, with patience and a sense of responsibility based upon several centuries of experience, Great Britain is about to bring yet one more people to adult nationhood. If this is "exploitation" or "aggressive imperialism," then words have changed their meaning.—United Kingdom Information Bureau.

Lumber must be even more scarce in California than in British Columbia. A San Jose, Cal., company has been advertising in Vancouver Island newspapers for fir, spruce, pine, alder, maple and cedar shingles.

Shipments of dairy cattle from Canada to the United States this year totalled 62,063 head up to last Friday. No wonder our butter is scarce. . . . Chlorination of the city's water supply cannot be uniform. At times the water actually has an unpleasant odor, and soap makes lather with great difficulty. . . . The Chinese junk Amoy, built in the Orient and sailed to Victoria about 18 years ago by Capt. Waard, is now tied up at New Rochelle, N.Y. The vessel is the home of Alfred Nilson, a radio engineer at station WOR, New York. With his wife and three sons, Nilson plans to sail the junk back to China. She is 66 feet long and cost $5,000 to build. . . . Because Washington subsidizes parcel post shipments, it is possible to send a parcel from the United States to the United Kingdom for one-third less than the cost of posting one from Canada. The Dominion Government pays 75¢ per cubic foot for parcel space on deep-sea vessels.

From The Windsor Star: "Communism undeniably has made its greatest appeal to foreign-born residents of Canada who might have been saved from its clutches had there been more official encouragement for them to assimilate themselves. The majority of those who are falling for the Moscow brand of Fascism would not do so if they were familiar with our democratic principles of government. It is difficult for them to appreciate democracy, however, if they are ignorant of the official tongues of the land in which they live."

FOOD IN BRITAIN

Sir,—In reply to Mr. Sid Clark, of 78 Logan Avenue, on facts about the food rationing in Britain:

I am a returned veteran from five years, eight months overseas, and England were, and still are, suffering from insufficient quantities of staple foods—Mr. Clark's statement about butter, margarine, turkey, ducks and chickens—and the fact that the English prefer margarine to butter seems fatuous.

When on leave with my wife and family in England, I had positive proof that the milk ration was two pints per week per adult. The rations for the week per adult is as follows:

Tea, 1-4 of a pound.
Sugar, 1-2 lb.
Cheese in bulk, 8 cents.
Bacon, 9 cents.
Sausages, 3 cents, 85 per cent beef.

Meat, 25 cents.
Lard, 5 cents.
Butter, 2 ounces, increased to 3 ounces for Christmas week only.
Margarine, 1-4 pound.
Eggs, one in six weeks up to 1943.

When Canadian eggs arrived, this used to vary from none to three eggs, after arrival of eggs from Canada. Points per person were 24 per month—from this you could buy the following:

Salmon, 35 points per tin.
Beans, 4 points per tin.
Fruit, 16 points per tin.
Meat, 10 points per tin.
Cereals, 2 to 3 points per packet, and so forth.

Fish when you could get it after queuing for hours.

This is fact, not guesswork. If we could not get this ration of food, it would help the people that are so good, as to send parcels to families in Britain, as I noticed a good many Victorians at the post office on Thursday last, were doing despite the very high cost of postage.

FOOD IN BRITAIN

Sir,—I have a number of relatives and friends and wives of the P.O.W.s who were here, who write me from Britain, and while not in one instance do they complain, yet they all convey the impression that their meals are certainly inadequate, monotonous and uninteresting.

Over a period of years the only request I have had was for a much-needed ("none in the shops") comb, and of how priceless was a cake of soap and face cloth.

They are so overwhelmingly grateful to us (who have not had to suffer deprivations) for the least little thing, that I often recall that, but for them holding the fort in 1940, we probably would not be sending food to anyone anywhere.

FOOD IN BRITAIN

Sir,—Apparently, your correspondent Mr. Sid C. Clark forgets that when Britons had "two ounces of tea and as much coffee as they wanted" (if they could get it) also at the same time had a meat ration of one chop per person per week. In any case the question is not what people had in Canada or England in 1943 as to what the people of Britain get now.

Further, the statement that "the English never used much butter is totally erroneous. The type that preferred margarine probably also did not use sugar in their tea."

STREET LIGHTING

Sir,—At the dinner meeting of the Victoria Toastmistress Club held on Thursday, November 14, the subject of street lighting in Victoria was discussed.

At several cases of teen-age girls having been molested and now afraid to go out after dark were brought out in the discussion, it was suggested that the B.C. Electric Co. be approached with regard to making an allowance on each household's electric light bill, in the areas where lighting is insufficient, so that the porch light may be kept burning during the evening to enable residents to feel safe on the streets of Victoria until such time as street lighting can be improved.

A Search in Earnest

In traditional costume, Yeomen of the Guard recently searched the cellars under the Houses of Parliament, London, prior to the opening of the second session of the present Parliament. British police officials took unusual precautions in guarding King George and Prime Minister Attlee in issuing firearms to their plain clothes men, normally unarmed, following an anonymous threat to Scotland Yard of assassination against Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, "unless British policy in Palestine is immediately changed." The precautions gave unexpected reality to the traditional search.

Expect Strife In Palestine

LONDON, Nov. 18 (CP).—A Government informant declared today that Britain anticipated "shootings" in Palestine regardless of what final formula was evolved for the settlement of Arab-Jewish differences, and that British forces must be prepared to meet it.

A foreign office spokesman said Britain would make necessary arrangements to carry out her "maximum political commitments."

Estimates of the reported contemplated increase in troops ranged from 50,000 to 100,000, London informants estimated there now are 80,000 British troops in Palestine, while Jerusalem dispatches placed the strength at 100,000 and said it might be doubled.

Protest Hut Sale In Manitoba Too

DAUPHIN, Man., Nov. 18 (CP).—Town and rural councils here, together with P. S. Zaplatny, member of Parliament for Dauphin, have protested the sale of 39 buildings at the former No. 10 Service Flying Training School here to Housing Enterprises, Limited, Crown-operated demolishing organization.

The protests, wired to Reconstruction Minister Howe, claimed that the buildings were not advertised for sale and that municipalities were supposed to have priorities on war assets supplies before they were sold to private firms.

The Dauphin councils had sought to obtain some of the buildings for community purposes, and timber from others for bridge materials.

(Canadian Legion members at Nanaimo yesterday declared their intention to picket 30 huts at Camp Nanaimo if any effort was made by Housing Enterprises, Limited, to demolish or remove them.)

Koniev Commands All Red Army

MOSCOW, Nov. 18 (Reuters).—Marshal Ivan Koniev, described as a tactician man "who can work around the clock without sleep," has been appointed commander-in-chief of all Soviet ground forces to succeed Marshal Gregory Zhukov, it was announced tonight.

The 48-year-old liberator of Kharkov, appointed to command Russian occupation forces in Austria in August, 1945, gained his greatest fame as commander of the Second Ukrainian Army in 1944.

Marshal Zhukov has been described in recent Soviet accounts as deputy war minister and deputy commander-in-chief under Stalin.

Asks Reason For British Bread Ration

LONDON, Nov. 18 (Tuesday) (CP).—The Daily Express asked editorially today why bread rationing still is in force in Britain.

"The Canadian agreement by now should have filled the pipeline plentifully in view of the enormous harvest and the large—even surprising—economies that resulted from the bread rationing scheme," said the Express, which supports the Conservative party.

"But apparently the pipeline is as low as it was at the end of August when it was expected to contain only eight weeks' supplies."

The Express said "bewildered consumers should be told what has been happening" since July 3 when Food Minister Strachey said the size of the Canadian crop would be a dominating factor in Fall food prospects.

The Daily Mirror, also Conservative, said it was obvious that while the United States had plenty of wheat for normal purposes she had been holding out for a higher price for her exportable surplus.

Seven of Family Burned to Death

MADOC, Ont., Nov. 18 (CP).—Seven persons—a mother and her six children—died in the flaming furnace of their metal-walled home here today as the woman's husband stood helplessly by.

Dead are: Mrs. Ephraim Ray, 30; Douglas, 13; Doreen, 10; Allan, 9; Ella, 5; Dianne, 3, and one-year-old Emerson.

The father, a 38-year-old truck driver, had his hair and face singed by the flames. He was doing morning chores in the barn a short distance from the house when he heard a muffled explosion. He hurried outside to see flames bursting from the two-story dwelling.

Neighbors, aroused by his screams for help, ran to the spot, but were helpless to aid. Chemicals poured on the blaze by Madoc firemen had no effect and soon the floor collapsed. The bodies of the mother and her children were recovered from the ruins later, charred beyond recognition.

To Vote Today On Strike End

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18 (AP).—Maritime workers and shipowners met near to an end of the seven-week West Coast shipping strike tonight with announcement that a new proposal by the Pacific American Shipowners' Association will be submitted to the A.P.L. masters, mates and pilots for ratification.

Resumption of shipping by the end of the week appeared to be in sight. C.I.O. unions vote tomorrow on their separate agreements, reached earlier.

Omar Hoskins, Federal labor conciliator, emerged from a day-long negotiating session between the P.A.S.A. and the M.M.P. to announce the operators' proposal for a complete contract would be submitted to the union membership on the West Coast tomorrow for adoption or rejection.

Hoskins said that the terms of the proposal could not be released at this time.

Butter Ration To Stay Until End of Year

OTTAWA, Nov. 18 (CP).—The Government has decided that the present individual butter ration of approximately six ounces a person weekly can be maintained until the end of the year. The Canadian Press learned authoritatively today.

The supply position beyond that date, however, still is too obscure to determine whether or not a ration cut will be necessary, and the butter stock and production picture will be reviewed again as the year-end approaches.

Authoritative sources reported that the supply position was running close to the margin where a reduction would be essential, but it was expected the country could reach the new year without going to the extremes of last winter, when the ration was slashed to four ounces.

One reason for the improved situation this year is the fact the individual ration—at six ounces—is two ounces less than it was this time a year ago.

It became known today that the butter ration was one of the main problems before the Cabinet in a lengthy sitting last Thursday, when many speculated that the discussions were pointed at such matters as Arctic defence, the atomic bomb and biological warfare.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD

REGINA, Nov. 18 (CP).—Funeral services for Mrs. Ellen W. S. Revolt of Labor Against Bevin Defeated in House of Commons

LONDON, Nov. 18 (CP).—A revolt by 57 Labor members of Parliament against the Government's foreign policy failed out miserably in the House of Commons tonight when the House gave the Government a 353 to 0 vote of confidence.

Mr. Attlee denied that Britain and the United States were "ganging up" against Russia as he replied to Kingdom was not subservient to the United States or Russia and took her own democratic way in seeking progress within the United Nations.

"There was no 'ganging up' on Russia and it was recognized that the United Kingdom was unable to measure up in armament to Russia or the United States."

There was no "ganging up" on Russia and it was recognized that the United Kingdom was unable to measure up in armament to Russia or the United States.

There were 640 members of the House. Lobby estimates of Labor members falling to vote ranged from 180 to 190.

CHURCHILL ABSENT WHEN VOTE TAKEN

Many Conservatives joined Mr. Attlee in defence of Mr. Bevin, but Winston Churchill, opposition leader, was absent from the House.

Mr. Attlee said collaboration with the United States general staff continued, at a time of joint occupation, and asserted that if there was to be any standardization of military equipment it could be accomplished under the security arrangements of the United Nations for regional collaboration.

The Prime Minister said his Government has every confidence in Mr. Bevin, now attending meetings of the Foreign Ministers' Council in New York, and resented attacks "by persons whose services to the cause of Labor and Socialism are as dust in the balance as compared with his."

MAJORITY VOTE FAVORS CONSCRIPTION

The House then rejected 320 to 53 an amendment regretting the continuance of conscription in Britain.

Sydney Silverman, Labor member for Nelson and Colne, was the first to reveal that the rebels did not intend to force a vote on the foreign policy amendment, which would show exactly who was in all-out opposition to Mr. Bevin, Mr. Silverman questioned United States influence on British policy but said Mr. Attlee led "the best Government this country has ever had."

Mr. Attlee said that foreign policy could not have changed after the new Government took office in 1945 because "a general election doesn't change geography." The United

Shortages Retard Irish Industry

DUBLIN, Nov. 18 (CP).—Irish industrialists, anxious to wipe out foreign competition in the home market and perhaps to compete abroad, find themselves hampered by the same shortages which plague businessmen everywhere.

"If it were not for the difficulties of obtaining plant equipment at the present time, we would be witnessing here an expansion of industry greater than we have ever known," Sean Lemass, Minister of Industry and Commerce, said in an address.

The Government believed that by assisting private enterprise it could promote activities which would absorb those now unemployed and available for work. There was an insatiable demand, not only in Eire, but in the export market for all the goods that could be produced.

"We have never hesitated to accept responsibility for the improvement of conditions that would end unemployment," he said.

"In the past we have endeavored to put that policy into effect in conditions which were not always favorable. The effects of worldwide trade depression, the consequences of the economic war, and the World War, have operated to a greater or lesser degree to defeat the plans of the Government to promote employment-giving activities."

Mr. Lemass said some degree of unemployment must always be expected.

France and Siam Reach Accord

LONDON, Nov. 18 (Reuters).—The signing of an agreement between France and Siam last night in Washington was announced by a French official spokesman in London this afternoon.

The agreement provides that Siam will by the middle of December evacuate the territory of Indochina, which she entered as a result of the Convention of Tokyo signed with Japan, May 8, 1941.

France, on her part, will withdraw the complaint against Siam on the ground that certain frontier incidents submitted last Summer to the United Nations Security Council and will cease to oppose Siam's candidature for membership of the United Nations.

Lady Alexander Refers to Visit At Children's Garden Library

TORONTO, Nov. 18 (CP).—Good citizenship is a good habit, like reading, and "it could and should be taught," Lady Alexander, wife of the Governor-General, today told the University Women's Club in a prepared address.

"I am reminded of the saying of Jean-Jacques Rousseau: 'As soon as a public service ceases to be the chief business of the citizens and they would rather serve with their money than with their persons, the state is not far from its fall.'"

She said that when she was in Western Canada last summer she visited a nursery school "where citizenship was taught as part of the curriculum. The head teacher had got her idea from the sign which was 'the V' for victory sign. But she changed this to 'C' for citizenship."

Lady Alexander visited the Children's Garden Library at the home of Mrs. W. W. McGill, Tattersall Drive, during her stay in Victoria last summer. The "C for citizenship" idea was Mrs. McGill's original idea.

"She was trying to bring in a scheme of badges for these small children, who not only showed real understanding of the work but acted upon it, I must say I was impressed by what I saw."

Lady Alexander said she was "somewhat alarmed at the prospect of speaking to so many distinguished ladies with university degrees."

"I regret to say that I have never had the advantages of a university education and I do regret it very much. It is extremely unlikely that I will ever be invited into the fellowship of a university even by the back door although my husband seems to collect honorary degrees wherever he goes."

First "Stardust" Performance Proves Outstanding Success

More than 1,400 persons attended the first performance of "Stardust," the annual dance revue by the pupils of Miss Wynne Shaw, last evening at the Royal Theatre under the auspices of the Junior Auxiliary of the Royal Jubilee Hospital, and under the patronage of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. C. A. Banks, the Premier and Mrs. John Hart and the Mayor and Mrs. P. E. George.

As in past years, the show was an outstanding success and reflected the utmost credit upon Miss Shaw, for not only were the program exceptionally well arranged, the costumes particularly beautiful and the originality of high degree, but there was evidence of many months of careful training and attention to detail in the dance numbers.

It was refreshing this year to note that the costumes were apparently no longer suffering from war scarcity as far as materials were concerned, although the effects achieved had been arrived at with no little effort on the part of those responsible and not the least of these, the mothers who had put so much time and thought into the making of the costumes. This was specially true of the minuet number "Out of the Long Ago," the "Little Russians," the "Bit of the Rain-forest" as well as the show finale.

The musical accompaniment of Reg. Woods' ten-piece orchestra, more than 50 children—ranging in age from four to 19—danced.

The program opened with a number which was perhaps, with the exception of "Snowtime for Fun," the outstanding presentation of the larger group settings in the recital. It was "The Enchanted Garden" and here Connie Sigrist, who was responsible for most of the scenic effects of the revue, let her vivid imagination have full play, with the result that realistic ladybirds, June bugs, fairies, flowers and butterflies came to life in view of a great garden wall with sunflower faces peering down at the fascinating scene. Jeanie Burns, a wee fairy, flitted among the sleeping flowers, bringing them to life with the smallest whisper. It was a charming scene and the quality of the dancing was first class.

Another pleasing number was "Snowtime for Fun," in which the children themselves appeared to take the keenest interest and delight. Drawn across the stage in a red and white sleigh by seven little "reindeer" came "Little Miss Stardust," Jeannie Burns, and tiny Sharon Williams, who was making her first appearance before an audience and sang with surprising sweetness "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town." There were penguins, bunnies, snowflakes and skaters and a special soloist, Diana Bradley, who is 11 years old and who came over from Vancouver to take part. With a voice of great promise and sweetness she sang with remarkably clear diction "Winter Wonderland," and was given an enthusiastic reception.

Among the more effective of the larger group numbers was "Shadow and Shine," a study in black and white, the setting being Connie Sigrist's. This number introduced some of the more sophisticated tap steps and provided a background for little Dianne McPherson, an amazingly supple acrobatic dancer who never fails to bring forth a round of applause.

The dancing of some of the older pupils, many of whom have been studying with Miss Shaw all their dancing years, came in for a good measure of approval, one of the memorable numbers being "Down Mexico Way" which was bright and cheerful and in which Brenda Slater introduced Dianne McPherson as a fractious donkey.

"It's Only a Paper Moon" was sung by Pearl Scott, followed by a clever solo shoe dance by a group of five, Beverly Ivings and Shirley Green as a team was equally lovely and a delight to watch. Of the solo dances, the smaller groups and the ballet numbers much might be said. It was an excellent performance from first to last, the opening with magic and fantasy being in direct but effective contrast to its closing.

Marchioness of Huntly to Study Newspaper Conditions in Canada

By FORD BAXTER
Canadian Press Correspondent
HAMILTON, Bermuda, Nov. 18 (C.P.)—Canada will play host shortly to a titled British career woman, the attractive 28-year-old Marchioness of Huntly, who will visit the Dominion after a holiday in Bermuda.

Lady Huntly, who administers the Scottish newspaper group owned by her father, Lord Kemsley, plans to study newspaper conditions in the Dominion.

Director of Aberdeen journals, she said she spent nearly every working day for the last five years looking after business. "Now at last I am having four weeks' rest," Lady Huntly, who arrived by plane after a few days in the United States, readily offered opinions on such subjects as United States newspapers, the proposed Labor Government investigation into British newspapers, and motor cars in Bermuda.

Lady Huntly finds her little brings complications when she visits the United States.

She said she had been greatly impressed by American papers. "Some of them offend all my journalistic instincts," she declared, while praising others.

Asked about the decision of the House of Commons to investigate British newspapers, Lady Huntly's eyes flashed. She said she could see no reason for such an inquiry.

"They might just as well probe into the ownership and control of the jam factories. We have nothing to hide and we have nothing to fear from it."

Lady Huntly found a certain amount of anti-British sentiment in

New York as she awaited transportation to Bermuda. But she added that in England many persons felt they were too far away from the New-World to worry too much about the feelings of these Americans.

Victoria Artists Will Go to U.S.

Two sponsors interested in furthering the musical career of Mervin Cummings and his teacher, Selma Reyes, have come forward from the United States. Mrs. F. P. Beckett, educational secretary, told members of Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., at the meeting last evening held at headquarters.

One of the sponsors heard Selma Reyes in recital at Town Hall in New York, and the other, a Los Angeles resident, was recently in Victoria and was most favorably impressed after hearing Mervin Cummings play, Mrs. Beckett explained.

Prior to their departure for Los Angeles, which is expected to be late in January, the I.O.D.E. will sponsor a farewell recital presenting Mervin Cummings at the High School Auditorium on January 13. At a later date, Selma Reyes and Mervin Cummings will give a joint recital.

Mrs. Beckett also reported that on investigating reading matter for children available at the Victoria Public Library, that no child under high school age may be transferred from the boys and girls' department without written permission from a parent or guardian. The books for the boys and girls' department are all carefully selected by a board of eight members, she stated.

Plans for "Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp," to be held at the Royal Theatre on December 16, 17 and 18, were reported to be well under way by Miss Cora Wharton at the meeting of the Solarium Junior League last evening. Miss Wharton, who is convener, will be assisted by Mrs. A. W. E. Pitkethley, Mrs. H. Wagner, Mrs. W. Frazer, Mrs. Graham Harris and Miss Joan Saul.

Victoria Needs 3,500 Houses

At a meeting of the Local Council of Women held at the Y.W.C.A. yesterday afternoon, Mrs. A. P. Raymond gave a detailed brief on the housing situation in Victoria. She stressed the need for action in connection with this problem, stating that 3,500 houses are required in Victoria and that 3,000 houses are housing at least two families.

She said that the average family able to pay from $25 to $35 per month are asked to pay $37 to $47; that there is a definite lack of building materials of all kinds, and that the houses at $5,000 are beyond the financial resources of a large proportion of the population. She reported that demands had been made at the Victoria Joint Labor and Veterans' Conference in October that a subsidized publicly-owned housing program be undertaken to relieve this situation.

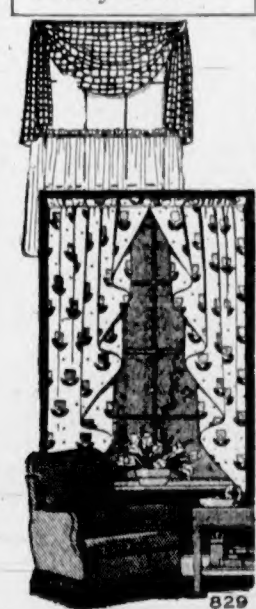

A letter regarding an increase in old-age pensions was read by Mrs. Perry.

It was decided that a bridge and tea be held at the Y.W.C.A. on December 4. Mrs. Alfred Carmichael will convene the bridge and Mrs. Parsons will look after the musical program.

Miss E. H. M. Bruce said that many organizations had offered to send cards and gifts to the mental hospital at New Westminster, in response to a request made at a previous meeting.

A nomination committee was formed to look after the 1947 slate of officers. Mrs. Bertha Parsons was in the chair.

Corvette Becomes Modern Coastal Passenger Vessel

A LONG with many other naval ships, the corvette H.M.C.S. Leaside was placed in the hands of War Assets Corporation for sale or disposal at the end of the war. With two others of her type, she was purchased by the Union Steamship Company and converted as a peacetime vessel for northern service of the company.

The reconversion work ended recently, and the finished product is pictured above. She has been named Sa. Coquilham, and now operates on a northern run from Vancouver, serving Prince Rupert, Alert Bay, Port Hardy and Alaska. Pictured in the upper right is the upper deck observation room. Below, left to right, are the ship's main lounge and dining-room.

Another corvette, the former H.M.C.S. St. Thomas, has been converted in a similar way, and is now the third ship of the Union Steamship Company to bear the name Camosun. She also operates in northern waters from Vancouver. A third corvette is now being converted at a Vancouver shipyard. St. Camosun will make her maiden trip to Ketchikan, Alaska, from Vancouver, tomorrow. Walter Miles, local agent of the company, said all berths had been reserved. Each of the three ships has accommodation for 150 first-class passengers, with 35 upper deck rooms and 25 standard rooms. All staterooms are comfortably furnished and are air-conditioned. All vessels are also equipped with radar and other modern navigational aids.

Planned Fight With English Seen in Songs

Pity the poor English-teacher! Between four and five hours each week he strives to instill a better knowledge of the language and its use into his students.

They then go to their homes, read headlines and sports stories in the newspapers—which are often a corrupting influence on the English language—listen to parents whose use of the language is often poor, and listen to modern songs in which the grammar is "terrible."

"What chance has the English-teacher?"

This is the question asked by Professor R. J. Bishop, of Victoria College, who yesterday addressed the Gyrus Club at the Empress Hotel.

Speaking on "The Problems of the English-Teacher," he claimed the work involved "a great number of psychological problems." In many instances, he added, the student's attempt to grasp the use of better English was hindered by newspapers, songs, and parents.

By way of example he mentioned a so-called modern song which included the passage: "If I had knew what I ought to have knew, I never would have done what I did."

"I ask you, gentlemen, with that type of thing, what can the English-teacher do?"

He felt that song writers, in particular, had launched "a planned conspiracy" against those in his branch of educational work.

Professor Bishop was thanked by F. English, inspector of schools for Greater Victoria.

Closing of Stores of Interest to All Local Council of Women Told

The responsibility of facing squarely a problem now confronting our community concerns all of us, because we are all deeply interested in Victoria's future, Mr. Walter Miles, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, told the Local Council of Women when he spoke on the question of all-day closing of stores in Victoria.

Another point brought up by Mr. Miles was the matter of wages and hours, the all-day closing not affecting either, he said, as many of the retail stores already have a 40-hour week in operation, without a full day closing.

"On the municipal election ballot on December 12 there will appear a referendum on all-day closing of stores which, I am sure, none of us can overlook. The City Council have asked all of us to make known our wishes on the question of shortening the retail shopping week. It is a matter of such importance that we must not ignore it," he said.

The most important consideration of the issue is whether the people of Victoria want a mid-week shopping blackout, Mr. Miles pointed out. He also added that because of wartime restrictions many retail merchants had voluntarily closed their shops for one full day during the week but pointed out "that a wartime emergency condition should not dictate a permanent policy of enforced-closing of stores in peace time, and when merchandise can be expected to be more plentiful."

The tourist trade should also be considered, Mr. Miles stated. "Confusion regarding which particular day our shops would be closed would soon result and tourists, not being sure on which day they would be permitted to shop. This situation would soon create a 'dropping off' of tourists travel to Victoria," he stated.

B.C. Seal Hunter Charles Axhorn Dies on Mainland

One of the last of the seal hunters of the British Columbia Coast, Charles Axhorn, passed away in New Westminster over the weekend.

Mr. Axhorn had lived many years in Victoria, coming to this city 54 years ago to join his brother, already in the sealing business. For many years he hunted seal aboard the Agnes McDonald sailing between Victoria and Yokohama, Japan. Later he joined the gold rush to the Yukon. He served with the Royal Engineers in the Great War, and returning to Victoria was appointed inspector of dredging operations for the Pacific Construction Company in 1925. In 1933 he was appointed chief janitor at the Parliament Buildings, and held that position until his retirement in August, 1944.

His widow resides in New Westminster. He is also survived by one son, Cyril P. Axhorn, 1725 Fairfield Road. Funeral services will be held at S. J. Curry & Son at 2 p.m. tomorrow. Interment will be made at Colwood-Burial Park.

Don Alvarado Ricardo Found Not Guilty of Intent to Rob

Don Alvarado Ricardo, 38-year-old painter, was found not guilty yesterday by a jury at the Fall Criminal Assizes of a charge of intent to rob William Wakeham, Victoria taxi driver, in the early morning of last July 24.

The case was heard before Mr. Justice A. Macfarlane.

Wakeham who testified he was a friend of the accused, said that on the night in question he was out on a call and stopped at the corner of Broad and Yates Streets to talk to Ricardo standing on the curb.

At this time, Wakeham testified, accused pulled an object looking like a pipe or a gun from his pocket and demanded "What have you got?"

He repeated the question, and I took a handful of change from my pocket and offered it to him. He refused and said he didn't want it as he was a friend of mine," Wakeham said.

Wakeham said that he reported the incident to the police about 45 minutes later, "as I thought Ricardo might get into trouble, as he appeared to have been drinking heavily." Accused was later picked up at the scene.

On the stand, Ricardo admitted that he had been drinking all evening, but had pulled the gun on his friend "merely as a practical joke."

George Gregory appeared for the accused, with R. A. Wootton, for the Crown.

Earlier the case of Chow Quap, charged with attempting to bribe a police officer in the execution of his duty last August 1, was put over for trial at the end of the Fall Criminal Assizes when the jury failed to come to an agreement.

Egg Production On Island Will Improve

Egg production on Vancouver Island is not decreasing, but is expected to exceed by 500 cases a week last Autumn's production, Dominion Poultry Inspector William Hagger said last night, commenting on a report from Trail that production in the Kootenays had fallen off 10 per cent.

The Trail report contained a prediction by A. Godfredsen, president of the Kootenay Co-operative Poultry Association, that district egg production would drop 50 per cent by Christmas if nothing was done

SUPPORT of the Christmas Seal campaign in British Columbia is the duty of every citizen, His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Charles A. Banks said yesterday. "One of the major weapons against tuberculosis is the familiar Christmas Seal," His Honor stated.

"In past years, seal subscriptions have provided the money for most of the preventative tuberculosis work in British Columbia, and have been responsible for saving many thousands of lives.

lance tuberculosis can be stamped out entirely within one generation, and it is with the assistance of the Christmas Seal campaign that this goal can be achieved."

to make more meat scraps and fish meal available.

Mr. Hagger said shortage of housing for hens was the only deterrent to greater production on Vancouver Island at present.

"Besides, the Kootenays do not produce many of British Columbia's eggs," he said. "Eighty per cent of the eggs come from the Fraser Valley, and a good percentage from Vancouver Island."

Winnipeg Blue Bombers "T" Formation Exponents

WINNIPEG Nov. 10 (CP)—Winnipeg Blue Bombers will undoubtedly go into the East-West football final as underdogs, whether it be against Toronto Argonauts or Toronto Balmy Beach. But if Bombers set up a strong pass defense against the Argonauts, they could be a formidable force.

Bombers use the T-formation in the majority of plays, moving information from a left back generally into a three-point formation, depending on their position on the gridiron. On kicks they form in the standard system with the holder and kicker in the back field, and the line of scrimmage.

The "T" has changed considerably during the last 20 years with the main difference being the main direction to move the opponent's defense shift accordingly. This maneuver spreads the defense and the offensive club can take advantage of this by spreading their own defense.

Walter Bomber, quarterback, is the key man in the Bombers' "T".

If the defensive team moves to back their line, the Bombers' set line plays. Bombers' strategy is to play the ball to the man in motion, which serves to spread the defense.

The "T" is the most favorable formation for Bombers, who are blessed with a strong forward wall and tight fast-moving backfielders. They use the deception of the "T" to provide a back up for their lack of weight.

Back of the line, as they have to bring down the line, and the line of scrimmage. If their timing and blocking is right it makes opposing players off balance and the defense is forced to make a mistake.

On the defense, Bombers put Max Wilson, veteran center and captain, from the line, and he takes position against the line, calling defense.

Bill Brown, an off backfielder, is generally called upon to tag the pass-receiver. Dobler and Don Hines or Hood take over the safety positions on most plays.

In their eight league games, Bombers won five and dropped three, scoring 60 points to 46 against them. Their most potent attack was through the air, completing about half of their passes.

They outscored their opponents most of the season. Two play-off games against Calgary netted Bombers 30 points against 21. Their only test against an Eastern team was a two-game exhibition series with Montreal Alouettes, which was split.

Bombers taking the first, 17-6, and Alouettes the second, 24-0.

French Horses Take Britain For 39,425 Pounds in Purses

LONDON, Nov. 10 (CP)—All the K. O. was for him. The French horse, which ended Saturday, from going down in British history at the last of the French invasion.

French horses took Britain for a ride. Marcel Boussac sent the best of his thoroughbreds across the Channel to win £31,377 with 12 winners, most of them in long-distance gallops.

This fat figure made Boussac the second biggest winner, trailing the Aga Khan, perennial titleholder by only £2,071. The Indian potentate's total was amassed in 24 triumphs in relatively small races.

Growing attacks for the French invasion was the victory of Boussac's 11-year-old champion, an invincible horse down last season. Favorites of that year, the King George VI stakes, had to drop out of a world championship drawing the three kings of American and continental countries.

Despite that defeat, the grey Airborne, owned by John Ferguson, won the stakes circle of leading owners. Airborne, until Airborne, won the Derby in a surprise finish at Epsom Downs in June, Ferguson said £20,000.

Post Office To Employ 300 Helpers

Victoria Post Office will employ 300 extra personnel for the Christmas season, G. H. Gardiner, postmaster, announced yesterday.

Hiring of new employees will be done through Selective Service and the bulk of the helpers will start work on December 2.

On completion of the present term, many students will also lend aid to the rush period at the post office.

The additional help will be employed as sorters, carriers and mail porters. It is reported that the reduction in parcels to overseas troops has been more than made up by increases in mail to United Kingdom civilians. Much of this is believed to be caused by returned veterans sending gifts to friends they made while overseas.

Yesterday was the deadline for mail to the Continent, but although these mails are heavy, Mr. Gardiner said United Kingdom mails are far heavier. Parcels destined for the United Kingdom should be in the mails by November 25 and letters by December 2.

Gifts may weigh up to 30 pounds. Mr. Gardiner said, and must be clearly marked "Gift Parcel." There are also special rates for parcels sent to members of the armed forces serving in the United Kingdom and on the Continent.

NOTICE TO MARINERS
Mariners are advised that today a lighted buoy will be established at the western side of the entrance to Esquimalt Harbor, and will show a flashing green light. The buoy will replace the present aid to navigation which flashes a white light. The announcement was made yesterday by W. L. Stamford, Department of Transport agent here.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"SCAMP"—Originally an army deserter.

Though "scamp" is occasionally used affectionately as a good-natured epithet of reproach, generally it is synonymous with such terms as "nerf-do-well" and "rogue." And while this embodies the spirit of how it started, it does not tell its story, which is an interesting one.

"Scamp" is a colloquial abbreviation of the Latin ex campus, meaning "from the field" (of battle). We have it by way of the French escamper, to run away, to escape.

The original scamp was a fugitive who deserted his colors during war.

Hence all the derogatory attributes which in time became embodied in the word, including its use interchangeably with words like scoundrel and good-for-nothing.

Curing the Child Who Stutters

By Dr. J. B. WARREN

GIMME
GIMME

Stuttering is caused by nervousness and self-consciousness. The child or adult does not usually stutter when at home or among friends. It is believed that stuttering begins (a) under conditions of illness or weakness; (b) at a time of sudden or intensive emotional experience, usually fear, anger, anxiety; (c) when the child imitates another stutterer; (d) conflicts in the child's mind.

The child must be taught to mix with others more, use the telephone, read aloud in the presence of others, or, if possible, attend a school for stammerers.
